

WEEDE IS PLEASED

Washburn Coach Thinks Team Has Good Chance to Win.

Did Excellent Work in Signal Practice Last Night.

CRIPPLES ARE OUT.

Robb, Haughey and White Appear in Suits.

Latter May Be in Quarter Back Position.

After a day's layoff on account of the rain the Washburn squad resumed their practice in preparation for the Kansas university game last night. The gridiron was muddy and the team worked out on the large meadow south of the observatory building. This is largely sod but proved to be pretty rough for practice work.

George White, Washburn's Fast Halfback, Who Reported for Practice Last Night.

A good tryout resulted and Coach Weede is very much satisfied with the work of his men. Nothing but signal work was indulged in, but the men are getting their signals through their heads and are beginning to execute their new formations with skill and speed. If the men can do as well on the field during the game as they did in the signal practice last night, they ought to win.

A new cripple was added to the list of the Washburn team yesterday. Eddie Brown, the Missouri valley center of last season who has been bothered considerably this season with a strained knee, wrenched his knee quite severely by stepping in a hole yesterday in the practice. His knee will be sore for some time, but he is too valuable a man to lose and will have to start the game anyway.

The other men on the team who have been on the injured list were all out in suits last night, some of them for the first time in a couple of weeks. The return of Haughey and Robb was hailed as an especially favorable omen. Both of the crack ends played their regular positions in the signal work last night and although they were both somewhat lame, they played a pretty good game. Coach Weede is in much poorer condition than Haughey, and may not be able to play more than a few minutes.

Another feature which gladdened the hearts of the Washburn players last night was the appearance of George White in a uniform. The crack little halfback of last season's team has not been in a suit since he was injured in the Haskell game. In the practice last night he took Hope's position at quarterback and played this position better than he has at any previous time this season. White will be saved for this game and should anything happen to Hope, White will go in at quarter.

One of the weak spots in the Washburn team is in the kicking department. This has been partially remedied by the work of the team this week. Coach Weede has been working all the available material he has on hand and has been trying to develop a good kicker. Smiley, Hope and Robb have been dropping kicking and have shown up in fair shape. Robb showed up well as a drop kicker last season but he has been unable to do anything in this line so far this season on account of his injuries. Smiley has been showing up especially strong as a drop kicker and it is not unlikely that should he have a chance to go in at half or end, either position of which he plays well, he will be given a chance to boot the ball over should the Washburn team get near enough to the goal. Hope and Williams have been practicing place kicking and both have been showing signs of improvement. Williams will probably be used in the place kicking during the game and the punting will be delegated to Millice whose trusty left toe kept the Kansas bunch from scoring on Washburn last season. The Kansas squad has been working just as hard as Washburn. All the Jayhawkers are in good condition and Kennedy has not a cripple on his entire squad. Crowell and Rouse have bad knees but they will be all right by Saturday and able to do their best against Washburn. The back field is in good shape now with the addition of Porter. Porter is claimed to be a wizard in the broken field and is also touted as a consistent drop kicker.

In speaking of the game Coach Kennedy said yesterday: "Although I'm expecting Washburn to put up a splendid fight I believe that we will beat them. If the Farmers had not put up such a hard game against us I would feel even more confident of our result. The Washburn team knows our plays and our men because, in order to beat the Aggies, we had to use everything we had been saving for Washburn. I saw Washburn play St. Mary's and Donald and Brunner saw Washburn play Haskell, so we have a pretty good line on them. Our defense is strong enough to keep them away from our goal line. I don't see how they can make a touchdown except on a fluke."

The last official was agreed upon yesterday afternoon when Barrett of Atchison who was formerly a Swarthmore star was chosen to act as field judge. The officials for the game this season, if reputation is any criterion from which to judge, should prove to be the ablest ever seen in Kansas. Every one is recognized as a good official and with four of them the game ought to move along swiftly and without the disgusting raw chewing tactics sometimes indulged in.

NEBRASKA IS SCARED.

Fears Result of Meeting With Iowa Farmers Saturday.

Lincoln, Neb., Oct. 31.—Saturday's game with Colorado was not calculated to instill Coach Cole's cornhuskers with a surfeit of confidence. Instead it has thrown a genuine scare into the Nebraska camp, the general verdict being that the cornhuskers will have to display better form against Ames Saturday than they did against the mountaineers or suffer a second defeat on their own grounds at the hands of the Iowa farmers.

Nebraska showed plainly the effects of the hard game against Minnesota. Save for a spurt in the second half, when the cornhuskers carried the ball 50 yards for a touchdown on straight line attacks, their work showed only reminders of the snap and power it had possessed before they emerged from the game with the gophers.

In the first half of the Colorado game, though scoring 12 points against their opponents, they were unable to make first down a single time. Better success attended their efforts in the second half, but the fight was much closer than the final score indicated.

Nebraska used only two substitutes during the contest and emerged from the struggle in fairly good condition. It is apparent, however, that the coach's will have to contend with strong possibilities of a slump, several of the men having shown suspicious signs of staleness in Saturday's game. At the conclusion of the contest Coach Cole gave out no interview concerning its result, save to announce that he would expect better work against Ames or witness certain defeat.

The most encouraging feature of the game was again Weede's kicking, his first goal from the field being a drop kick at a difficult angle from the 45 yard line. The toe work of the Nebraska captain is expected to prove one of Nebraska's surest goal defenders as well as one of the likeliest scoring possibilities against the Aggies.

CORNEILL ON WARPATH.

Now Hope to Defeat the Army at Football.

Ithaca, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Cornell's hope is to show the football world that it is better than Yale by defeating West Point one week from Saturday, and with that end in view will concentrate every nerve. Although naturally expected to stay on the hill and rest from the hard grueling of the Princeton game, more than half of the team, led by O'Rourke and McCallie, who played a tremendous game last Saturday, showed up at the field this afternoon and demanded work. Unfortunately, the field was covered with three inches of mud from an all-day rain, and their wishes could not be gratified.

They watched the scrubs splash around in a muddy signal practice, and after running around the field went back up the hill. The condition of the Cornellians is splendid. The victory over Princeton Saturday put them on their mettle, and it is West Point and Pennsylvania for them now. They are out to win, and that means that the fighting Cornell spirit will stick with them.

There is no boasting and no conceit. The coaches aim to develop team work to a high point of efficiency. They mean to iron out the crude points in the defense and to speed up the offense more than ever. It is probable that Cornell will have a more varied repertory of plays in the next big game.

Gardner clinched his position at quarter back Saturday.

BENNIE OWENS BACK AT WORK.

Plucky Little Coach Minus an Arm Takes Charge of Sooners.

Norman, Okla., Oct. 31.—After two weeks of illness, caused by the amputation of his right arm, Bennie Owens, the coach of the Oklahoma university football team, appeared on the gridiron with the same old smile on his face, and, although weakened considerably, he followed the team up and down the field, coaching them same as ever.

The appearance of Coach Owens on the field caused the "varsity" to hit a lively gait, and it was the best practice had on Boyd field this fall. The popular little coach was surrounded by scores of students and friends who had not seen him for the past two weeks, and everywhere Bennie would go the crowd would follow, everyone seeking to hear what he had to say. He was exceedingly happy after the unfortunate accident and greeted everyone with a smile and glad handshake—with his left hand, however.

"I am very well satisfied with the result of the Kansas game, the boys did well under the circumstances," Coach Owens said. "I suppose our boys were a bit out of shape, but that is of the past. We must think of the future. I will be with the team every day from now on, and the thing for us is to get busy and make the Texas Longhorns three weeks hence. We can do it, so get down to work, boys, and work hard every day." The coach found it very inconvenient to handle the pigskin with one arm missing. He was trying to demonstrate a certain play and started to pick up the ball with his left arm; after dropping it several times he finally slid the ball up the side of his legs and then he showed them how it should be done.

The team for the past two weeks has been in charge of Captain Bill Cross, and he has worked the boys fine for his first trial at the coaching stunt, but the captain hasn't the influence and he lacks the ability to see the little mistakes done by the men.

A very promising man has been developed for fullback, the position which has been so weak all year. In the person of Charles Marsh, who comes from Haleyville, Pa., college. He lacked only one game of getting his "H" there, and that college puts out a team every year that is on an equal with Oklahoma and Texas. Marsh hits the line low and hard and goes for good gains. But his strong point is on the defensive. He figures out the play and goes after it. He weighs 165, is well built and six feet tall.

It is doubtful whether a game will be played Friday on account of the Southwestern Normal school canceling the game.

GOPHERS OVERCOME FUMBLING.

Williams' Men Round Into Form for Hard Battle With Chicago.

Minneapolis, Oct. 31.—The Minnesota team has begun its 31 week of preparation for the game with Chicago, which will take place Saturday afternoon at Northrop field. Dr. Williams spent the remaining five days in getting speed into the team and attempting to eradicate the fumbling habit.

The gopher coach realizes that a foolish play like that made by George Capron in the game with Nebraska, which netted the cornhuskers a touchdown costing them the game, is not necessary to offer a bounty for them.

"They are becoming entirely too numerous. They eat up a vast amount of stuff each year. They can make a field of corn look like a windstorm struck it. They nibble small trees and soon take the life out of them."

"Rabbits are a great multiplier. They increase at a wonderful rate. They have been plentiful for a few years past but this year they are much more plentiful than of late."

Many incidents were brought out where rabbits were working damage. One farmer stated that he knew fields where the rabbits lived by the hundreds. He had heard that they were a surplus of dogs and he suggested that the dogs be turned loose in these fields.

BIG RANCH IS SOLD.

Deal Involving $63,000 Is Closed in Cowley County.

Winfield, Oct. 31.—The biggest "landslide" that ever occurred in Cowley county was the sale last week by Stafford of his big Ohio ranch in southeast Cowley, to Levi Eckhardt of Richmond county, Wisconsin, for $63,000.

That is, it is the biggest in the amount of the consideration. Messrs. Stafford & Albright, accompanied by L. K. Cowley, who worked up the deal, went up there to close up the transaction and Mr. Stafford got back Tuesday morning.

The Ohio ranch contains 3,154 acres, and though exceeded in size by several others is said to be the most valuable ranch property in Cowley county. It is called by its name because of its former ownership in the Ohio Cattle Grazing association. Stafford & Albright's big Jersey ranch near Maple City, sometimes called the Clearwater ranch, or Cowley ranch, contains 6,280 acres, but at the time of its transfer to its present owners was not nearly so valuable as the Ohio ranch at the present time. The Adams & Shaver ranch in Otter township, and the Ferguson & Porter ranch in northeast Cowley are also larger than the Ohio, but have never been transferred in their entirety.

Mr. Eckhardt, the purchaser of the Ohio, is one of the largest breeders and KEPT DEAD CHILD.

Garden City Community Shocked Over Discovery.

German Family Left Body of Infant Behind Stove.

DIED A WEEK BEFORE.

Officials Investigated and Buried the Child.

Parents Are Working in the Beet Fields.

Garden City, Kan., Oct. 31.—The Telegram says: A shocking example of the ignorance of sanitary laws possessed by some of the members of the German settlement near the factory came to light this week through an investigation by some of the factory men. The case in question was the keeping of the body of a dead child in the house for nearly a week with no attention from an undertaker and no intention was shown by the parents of the child toward burying it.

The child died early last week but little was said of this to the other people of the settlement. In some way, however, Superintendent of Construction Muckle heard that a child had died in the settlement and that no move had been made toward burying it. He notified the police at the factory who made an investigation.

When the officer visited the house where the child had died he found the family at dinner. Back of the stove was a wooden box. He opened the lid of the box and there he saw the body of a dead child and its condition indicated that it had been dead several days. He learned afterwards that it had died four days before.

The officer secured a suitable box for a coffin and the child was buried Sunday.

The family of the child is one of the German families which come to Garden City in the spring and remain here until after the sugar campaign. All the members of the family who are large enough work in the beet fields during the summer. Although these laborers are paid good wages yet in many cases they live in the poorest manner imaginable. The company keeps a close watch on them but many of the families do not seem to understand this incident is thought to be the result of ignorance on the part of the parents.

BOYS IN A CORN CONTEST.

Great Interest by the Boys in Saline County.

Salina, Oct. 31.—Preparations for the Farmer institute, which will be held in Salina next Saturday have about been completed.

The boys' corn contest is the thing that is causing the greatest interest. There are 150 boys over the county who have entered the contest. Each boy will bring in ten ears of corn and from these 150 samples the winners will be selected. The corn will be placed in separate piles on tables arranged around the hall and will be on exhibit all day Saturday. The prize winners in the competition get a free trip to the state agricultural college at Manhattan.

The institute is being conducted under the direction of the Kansas state agricultural college. J. H. Miller will have charge of the program in the morning which begins at 10 o'clock. He will make an address at this time and it is probable that other addresses will be made by men from the school or from the city.

In the afternoon at 2 o'clock Prof. Starr, ex-state superintendent of Kansas, will deliver an address on the consolidation of school districts in the schools. Besides this address there will probably be one or two others by persons yet unknown.

The judging of the corn and the awarding of the corn prizes will probably take place in the morning.

RABBITS ARE A MENACE.

Western Kansas Farmers Talking About a Scalp Bounty.

The Salina Union is authority for the following: A group of farmers were talking on one of the main street corners Monday evening as a Union reporter approached. As the reporter got within ear shot he heard them discussing the rabbit question.

"We were just talking about rabbits," said one man, turning and addressing the reporter, "and it is our opinion that rabbits have just about reached that point in population where it will soon be necessary to offer a bounty for them."

"They are becoming entirely too numerous. They eat up a vast amount of stuff each year. They can make a field of corn look like a windstorm struck it. They nibble small trees and soon take the life out of them."

JEWELS WORTH $8,000 MISSING.

New York, Oct. 31.—Jewels valued at $8,000, according to police reports made today, have been stolen from the Bronxville home of Paul Bayne, a New York banker. A young man who visited the Bayne home in the guise of a lighting inspector, is believed to have committed the theft.

Killed Himself With Gas. Boston, Oct. 31.—W. B. Everett, president of the Willis & Everett company, picture and fine arts dealers, committed suicide by inhaling gas at his home here. The cause for the act is unknown. Mr. Everett was widely known in art circles.

Neosho Farmers' Meeting.
Erie, Kan., Oct. 31.—The farmers of this county have closed a successful and interesting two days' session of the Neosho County Farmers' Institute. Notwithstanding the rainy weather every part of the county was well represented. Among the speakers, present were Prof. Wheeler and Prof. Ten Eyck of the State Agricultural college. One of the best features of the institute was the boys' corn growing contest. In this contest more than $50 was awarded in prizes to boys who succeeded in growing superior corn.
